Union Labor Gang At Herrin Is Acquitted

MASSACRE OF UNEMPLOYED MEN PUNISHED

ST. LOUIS, April 6.—For the first time this year a jury has walked into the courtroom and announced that the men who were responsible for the massacre of unemployed men at Herrin, Mo., were not guilty of the charges against them.

The jury, composed of twelve men, after six hours and fifty minutes of deliberation, sent Judge D. T. Hartwell, who presided over the trial, a verdict of acquittal for each of the twelve defendants.

The jury also found that the defendants were not guilty of the charge of conspiracy to commit murder.

The trial, which began on Jan. 12, was the longest in the history of the state. It was held in the St. Louis County Court House, which was packed to the rafters.

The defendants, who were members of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, were charged with the murder of nine unemployed men and the wounding of several others.

The massacre took place on Aug. 4, 1917, when a group of unemployed men, known as the "Breadline Army," marched to the town of Herrin to demand work and food. They were met by a group of men who were members of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, and a shooting ensued.

The Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, which is one of the largest labor unions in the country, has a long history of involvement in labor disputes. It was founded in 1906 and has since then been active in many labor struggles.

LEAGUE WILL BE ISSUE FOR 1924 CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK, April 6.—Declaring the only serious bar to America's entrance into the League of Nations is "a small group of able but ambitious men—some of them very old—who are characteristically prodigal of the lives of others," former Justice John H. Clarke of the United States Supreme Court tonight served notice that the League issue would be forced into the 1924 election and that no candidate for the Presidency or the Senate would be permitted to conceal his position for a single week.

Speaking on the sixth anniversary of America's declaration of war on Germany at the first of a ten-day series of mass meetings throughout the country arranged by the League of Nations Nonpartisan Association, of which he is president, Justice Clarke said:

"It is reported that Senator King of Utah speaking for the Democratic party management, says the League of Nations is not to be an issue in the Presidential campaign next year. We shall see! We shall see! Tell it not in the streets of Askelon or of Washington, but the suspicion grows that the churches and women's clubs and the great newspapers will have something to say about that, and that the farmers and labor unions will have something to say about it, and I promise the Senator that our 4,000,000 young soldiers and the League of Nations Nonpartisan Association will have a great deal to say about it."

"Our association is already organized in every State in the Union, and long before this time next year we shall have an organization in every Congressional district in the country. It may as well be accepted in advance that no candidate for the Presidency, or for the Senate, will be allowed to conceal his position for a single week on this great moral question. Whether he prefers this new rational agency for peace or the old method of brutal war for settlement of international differences."

RICHARDSON HITS SCHOOL DEMAGOGUES

SACRAMENTO, April 6.—In one of the most vigorous expressions that has emanated from the office of a Governor of California in many years, Gov. Richardson today denounced politicians in the schools and warned the people of California that "politicians in the guise of educators" are responsible for placing "the whole school structure in danger."

The Governor prefaced his comment on the political situation in the schools with a straightforward and forceful statement of his own attitude toward education, in which he said:

"I am as strong an advocate of the public schools as anyone. I believe in their worth. I know they are the foundation of our government. Every teacher has my sympathetic support and appreciation. I stand strongly for good pay for teachers."

While expressing confidence in the great body of teachers and in the value of the educational system of the State, the Governor believed the time has come when the schools of California must be put on a business basis, when real education must be given to children and when political education must be destroyed.

EXTRAVAGANCE CHARGED

"The people are coming to know," he said, "that reckless extravagance has characterized the management of the schools, and that our children are being taught to spend foolishly and unwisely instead of to save, to practice economy and to follow the sensible doctrines of Benjamin Franklin. With the excessive taxes levied upon the people for school purposes there has been no corresponding increase in school efficiency."

"During the last few weeks I have been asking parents the results of the tracing their children are receiving. The answers have been that their children are getting a smattering of many subjects, but know little of any; that they cannot spell, cannot write legibly and cannot do simple problems, and that high taxes, extravagance and spending are advocated and even the smallest tot

TEXAS PROMOTERS GOT $100,000,000, GOVERNMENT SAYS

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Oil stock promoters operating in the State of Texas during the last five years have fished more than $100,000,000 from the public, Postmaster-General New was advised today by John W. Edwards, solicitor of the Postoffice Department, and Chief Postal Inspector Simmons. They are in Fort Worth co-operating with the Department of Justice in the prosecution of mail fraud cases involving oil promoters.

In making public the report the Postmaster General also declared the Postoffice Department intended to move in the most vigorous and persistent manner possible for the enforcement of both the criminal law and the fraud order statutes against the fraudulent use of the mails not only in the sale of fraudulent oil stocks but all other cases involving fraud in the mails.

ESCAPED PROSECUTION

New said the government had been appealed to "by disillusioned stockholders to stop the oil-stock 'trades' after 'wildcat promoters' had escaped prosecution by state authorities. Postoffice inspectors, he added, have been working since last summer on more than 300 cases, many of which have already gone to the grand jury now in session at Fort Worth."

The report to New follows in part:

"More than $100,000,000 is the estimate placed by Postoffice inspectors upon the amount of money fished from the public during the last five years by oil stock promoters operating in the State of Texas. This statement challenges the attention of the country and demands speedy and certain action."

Postoffice inspectors also report that companies and syndicates have been organized, run their course, and passed away by hundreds during these five years, leaving approximately a half million stockholders scattered throughout the United States to mourn the fading of rosy dreams of wealth with the final disappearance of their hard-earned dollars.

"No doubt some of these companies were started by men who

SECTIONALISM HAS VANISHED SAYS HARDING

AUGUSTA (Ga.), April 6.—Declaring he did not believe there was "a vestige of the sectionalism of the Civil War left in the United States," President Harding in a address delivered at a dinner party given in the honor tonight by the city of Augusta, deplored any developments of classes and organization of blocs in the Republic.

"There is a menace to the nation," said the President, "in the development of classes; and in the organization of blocs. There is danger in envy and jealousy. Let us be on guard against developments of envy and jealousy."

President Harding is the fourth Executive of the United States to visit the city, whose history antedates the foundation of the Republic. The others were George Washington, William McKinley and William Howard Taft.

Several brief addresses were made and responses to these addresses were made by various members of the Presidential party, including Brig.-Gen. Charles M.

BILL HAYWOOD IN PLOT

Deported Wobly Indicated Master Mind in Scheme to Bank Colonists to Russia

NEW YORK, April 6.—Amazing details of fraud and larceny involving $100,000, practiced on Americans in an effort to colonize desolate portions of Russia were bare tonight following the arrest of two men. The complaint, which resulted in the arrests indicates that the master mind of the scheme is William H. Haywood, deported I.W.O. leader.

Thomas E. Doyle, his wife Ruth and their two children, who returned from Russia Wednesday, caused the arrest of Thomas Reese and Pascal Cosgrove. Here is Doyle's story.

DONATED $1100

While residents of Baton Rouge, La., in May, 1922, they read an advertisement proposing to colonize certain portions of Russia. Answering it they came to New York, where, they said, they gave Cosgrove and Reese $1100 to be "shipped" to Russia, where they were to get free homes and a percentage of the earnings of an entire colony.

When they got to Russia they were forced to live in a desolate town.

Their existence was fraught with horror for months. Then the soviet authorities demanded that the wives of these Americans (there were in the "colony" about 250 women) practice free love as do their Russian sisters.

Of this Mrs. Doyle today said:

"I was a radical once, but months in Russia cured me. Every one of the women, as well as myself, of course, objected to this free love business. We would not stand for it."

According to the statement, the Doyses were sent 1500 miles into Siberia, where the parents were compelled at rifle points to work in coal mines.

Finally without money or food they escaped. They had not gone far when they met an American motion-picture outfit. The director gave them sufficient funds to get to Moscow.

There they told their story to American Minister Coleman who paid their passage to this country upon one condition—that immediately upon their arrival here they tell their story to Federal officials. Reese and Cosgrove as agents here of the colonization enterprise are specifically charged with larceny and fraud and false representations.

Leaping upon the running-board of his victim's moving automobile, a bandit armed with a blackjack knocked unconscious Roy Stewart of 416 South Lorraine Boulevard, robbed him of $240 and attempted to attack his companion, Miss May Daly. The robbery occurred shortly after midnight near the intersection of La Brea and Wilshire boulevards.

After taking what money he could find from his unconscious victim, the robber flashed an old police badge and ordered Miss Daly from the car. He took from her two diamond rings valued at $1000 and then ordered her to the side of the roadway, where he attempted to attack her. She fought the man off until the approach of other persons compelled him to flee.

Stewart did not regain consciousness until after the arrival of Officers Teal and Sherman from the Wilshire station.

FRENCH BATTLESHIP GUN RANGE GREATER

PARIS, April 6.—Preliminary tests made recently with the modernized French battleships indicated, it is officially stated, that the eight alterations have improved the firing distance of their 16-inch guns from 30 to 40 per cent.

While French naval circles exercise the utmost secrecy as to the exact improvement in the range of guns, there is a suggestion that the French battleships now outdistances those of other navies of the world, unless the same process has been carried out by other nations in the matter of slight elevation.

The French expect to establish the new ranges definitely during the firing tests in the Mediterranean in connection with the general naval maneuvers which begin next Wednesday.

PATRIARCH FACES TRIAL

Church Accused of Communism

HOUSE HOLDS UP WEEKLY EXODUS

Assemblymen Must Stay on Job at Capital

Highway Commission Frowns on Road Adoption

Measure Aimed at Private Schools Is Tabled

(BY A. P. MURPHY)

SACRAMENTO, April 6.—In the Senate several bills were passed today and sent to the Assembly. Senator E. J. Gatz, chairman of the Finance Committee, announced that the Governor and the Board of Control had completed their proposed amendments to the budget bill, and that the amended document would be in the hands of the Assembly tomorrow. The Assembly, however, decided today to continue work tomorrow. This is the first Saturday that has been a legislative holiday this season.

Many Assemblymen had planned to be absent over the week-end, and the announcement that there would be no session tomorrow brought consternation with it. T. M. Wright asked a leave of absence for Saturday, but it was refused him by a decisive vote. Then Clarence Morris asked for unanimous permission to be absent, and for a minute it looked as if he was going to get it, but Mr. Wright turned to his feet, and objected. Pending then moved that Morris be given leave, but that was defeated. Clearly tried to get leave for Frank Johnson, and that was defeated. Those who had hoped to be away, resigned themselves to remain, and the session was dropped.

DEBATE TO BE LIMITED

It was also announced in the Assembly that beginning Monday debate would be limited under the rules by permitting each member to speak not more than fifteen minutes on any one question. This rule has been disregarded heretofore this season.

The State Highway Commission today officially advised the Ways and Means Committee of the Assembly that it "believes it would be an injustice to the State and to the country to include any more county roads in the highway system, where the State has not made for future maintenance."

The letter of the commission addressed to Chester M. Kline of the Ways and Means Committee, by Secretary Mixon of the Commission, says:

"I am taking an opportunity to outline to you by letter the policy of the California Highway Commission relative to the bills in the Senate and Assembly providing for the inclusion of county roads in the highway system, where no provision is made for future maintenance."

"Under the circumstances existing at this time, the commission feels that it would be an injustice to the State and to the country to include any more county roads in the highway system, where the State has not made for future maintenance."

RESULTS UNFORTUNATE

The boards of supervisors of counties cannot care for these roads through lack of authority, nor can the Highway Commission care for them through financial inability, consequently the roads are in worse condition and less use to the public than had they remained in the county system of roadways.

The commission wishes it to be understood as not having any particular road in mind in outlining its policy. No doubt, convincing arguments may be advanced why any road should be made a State highway, but the equally convincing argument is made that if these roads are written into the State highway system, it will be absolutely impossible to give them even the care they are now receiving from the boards of supervisors. Therefore, the commission feels justified in making known, through you, its policy at the present time."

OREGON BREAKS LONG SILENCE

Mexican Foreign Attitude Outlined by President in The Times

Alvaro Obregon, President of Mexico, has broken his long silence by one of the most important announcements on Mexican affairs officially made since the Mexican situation came to public attention more than ten years ago.

In a signed statement given exclusively to the North American Newspaper Alliance for publication in The Times Monday, he outlined the attitude of his government on vexed questions which have produced talk of intervention and on attitude toward foreign capital and on recent assertions of Bolshevism in Mexico.

This statement, approved by Obregon personally, will be accompanied by comment by Louis R. Howley, special correspondent of the Alliance, whose articles on Mexico will appear from time to time. Obregon's statement is an authoritative document of first importance.

Elementary and secondary schools not supported by the State or any political subdivision thereof, to submit their accounts of instruction to the State Superintendent, and receive his approval. It would have required the national regulation of the school plants under the supervision of the Superintendent.

Dr. Ernest Doster and Assemblyman Harry Lyons, contended the bill before the committee. Doster said it was the entering wedge for a move toward interference and interference in educational matters.

Pomery told the committee that if the bill was refused legislative approval, it would be a precedent for the future. Lyons asked who would pay for the referendum, but declined to name those who would. Lyons asked whether they would be "bought" because they were "bought."

Pomery had two or three other bills on the table. He asked that they be tabled likewise.

"Almost all the promoters' concerns operate as common law trusts. They are organized under Texas statutes which provide no supervision whatever. The promoters appoint themselves trustees, and the investors are left to their own devices."

"To impose the penalty for using the mails to defraud, the postoffice inspectors and the agents of the Department of Justice must show sufficient evidence of intent to defraud. This is a very difficult task."

HELICOPTER ACHIEVING NEW FAME

De Bothezat Machine Does Vertical Rises of More Than Twenty Feet

(BY A. P. MURPHY)

DATON (O.), April 6.—New helicopter records were made today at McCook Field when Therman M. De Bothezat, former commander at McCook Field, rose vertically more than twenty feet in several tests of the De Bothezat helicopter.

The previous record was fifteen feet made in February, 1922, by the De Bothezat helicopter. At that time the helicopter remained in the air for two minutes and forty-five seconds. Today's record was of short duration, not lasting more than two minutes.

Since making the fifteen-foot record, the new machine has been stalled and the inventor declared today's flight proved that the machine will reach greater heights, probably 100 feet and that it will be capable of making short trips from one point to another without the need of a landing wheel. Further tests may be made tomorrow, according to Dr. George De Bothezat, the inventor.

Dr. De Bothezat was delighted with the morning tests and hoped to be able to reach an altitude of 100 feet tomorrow. "The machine behaved remarkably well this morning and we have great hopes of sending it up to hitherto un-reached helicopter altitudes," the inventor declared.

Sawyer, the President's physician, and Edward H. McLean, publisher of the Washington Post. The final address of the evening was by the President, who spoke briefly and informally.

The dinner was given as a farewell to the President and his party, who will leave tomorrow for Washington after a week's visit. Mr. Harding will play his final game of golf tomorrow forenoon on the Augusta course and during the afternoon, Mrs. Harding will review the school children.

HITCHCOCK STATEMENT

Members of the Presidential party left with interest, but without comment, the prediction made in Washington today by Vice-President Charles Hughes, that Mr. Harding would be renominated and re-elected. Another statement published locally, that accused considerable interest among members of the party was the assertion by former Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska that the League of Nations would never again be an issue in a Presidential campaign.

Senator Hughes, who led the fight in the Senate in behalf of the Versailles Treaty, said the United States already had begun to drift toward a new League of Nations, and in support of his statement cited the President's recent recommendation to the Senate that the United States accept a conditional membership in the International League of Nations, a creation of the Treaty of Versailles.

DOMESTIC ISSUES

"The next Presidential campaign will be fought about domestic issues," said the former Nebraska Senator. "Business conditions will have a large bearing on the outcome of the campaign. If we are good and money plentiful, it will, of course, be a hard matter to elect a Republican."

He said that they were tabled likewise.

RABBI DIES ASSAILANT IS HUNTED

Police of Country Seek Slayer of Country Seek Hebrew Pastor

(BY A. P. MURPHY)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6.—Rabbi Alfred J. Lafe of the Bush Street Temple, who was beaten in a hotel room Tuesday night, died at 1:15 today in the Mt. Zion Hospital.

The rabbi, who was 22 years of age, had been unconscious since the attack. Late last night an operation was performed in an effort to save his life. He died in a coma shortly thereafter, and remained in that condition until his death.

A description of Rabbi Lafe's mysterious assailant was sent by a letter to the police department in every police department in the country after the attack. He was about 175 or 180 pounds, dark, with the uniform of a seaman in the United States Navy.

Rabbi Lafe and the stranger came to the hotel together about 8 p.m. Tuesday. Rabbi Lafe registered under the name "A. Lafe," and the stranger under the name "H. Hickman." The rabbi later telephoned to the clerk asking to be called at 6 a.m. Tuesday. The stranger appeared in the lobby, rolling a cigarette and departed.

The 6 o'clock call failed to get a response, but the rabbi and the clerk investigating, found him lying against a wall, senseless from a battered skull and an attempt to choke him. Marks on his neck indicated that a rope or twisted steel had been used in the choking process. He was rushed to an emergency hospital and partially resuscitated, but was unable to give his name. He lapsed immediately into unconsciousness again.

SANE METHODS DEMAND

The Governor then proceeds in no uncertain language to assert: "There must be a return to sane methods and economical administration. The political oligarchy in control of the schools must be changed. The schools must be a place where the children are taught to think and to act, and not a place where they are taught to follow the lead of a few men."

Only last week, Justice Clark continued, he had been told by "one of our most intelligent and experienced observers of foreign affairs" that British statesmen were discouraged today as to the future of the League of Nations.

MEANS ECONOMIC CHAOS

"It is easier to imagine than to describe what the situation of our country would be," Justice Clark declared, "if the British Empire should disappear from the world, carrying as it would, France down with it and thus involving all Europe and Britain in economic and social demoralization and despair in which Germany, Russia and Asia Minor are today."

PETROGRAD OVERTAKEN BY TERROR

Populace in Hysteria Over Rumor Jupiter Will Bring About Judgment Day

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

PETROGRAD, April 6.—Petrograd is filled with hysteria. A wave of religious emotion is filling the old capital where thousands are convinced that the world is coming to an end. A rumor arose from a scientific report that a planet Jupiter, which is off its course, would collide with the earth or sun, ending the earth's existence with one grand slam.

So serious is the hysteria, that the Petrograd city council of Science has called a series of meetings everywhere, inviting the public to hear full explanations that Jupiter's veering off at an angle is not going to end the world.

The different elements are differently affected. The religiousists assert that Jupiter's collision with the earth will bring about the end of the world. Some say the Jupiter will collide with the world in Russia because the families failed to stamp out Bolshevism. Others say that it will occur in America because that nation is too plutocratic.

The intelligentsia is giving lectures at the clubs and movies, asserting that the stories are merely fantasies.

WORLD LEAGUE WILL BE ISSUE

1924. The League of Nations transcends all partisanship. Justice Clark who resigned from the Supreme Court to work for American entry into the League, declared that more pressing now than ever before upon the fate of the world hang upon this decision.

Besides serving as a warning to Turkey, Germany and Russia against disturbing the peace, he declared, America's influence in the League was the sole agency that could keep England and France "in amity and peace."

With Germany and Russia protesting as they are, he said, "Europe means only Great Britain and France and what the League means is the future of the world. It depends upon whether these two nations shall be friends or enemies."

MUST HAVE MARKETS

"Britain is a trading nation and must have markets or perish. France can live within herself, but only in mortal dread of invasion by her age-long enemy. Britain wishes Germany restored so that she may trade with the world and not be a mere island in the sea."

Widow Tells of Attempts to Win Daughter Back

Coroner Declines to Admit Discussion of Case

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

LONDON, April 6.—The friendship of the novelist, William J. Locke, and his wife for the pretty girl, Sheila Baines, parental indignation, the daughter's and novelist's tearful pleas that she be permitted to continue her travels about Europe with the Lockes, the declared, America's influence in the League was the sole agency that could keep England and France "in amity and peace."

With Germany and Russia protesting as they are, he said, "Europe means only Great Britain and France and what the League means is the future of the world. It depends upon whether these two nations shall be friends or enemies."

MUST HAVE MARKETS

"Britain is a trading nation and must have markets or perish. France can live within herself, but only in mortal dread of invasion by her age-long enemy. Britain wishes Germany restored so that she may trade with the world and not be a mere island in the sea."

Only last week, Justice Clark continued, he had been told by "one of our most intelligent and experienced observers of foreign affairs" that British statesmen were discouraged today as to the future of the League of Nations.

MEANS ECONOMIC CHAOS

"It is easier to imagine than to describe what the situation of our country would be," Justice Clark declared, "if the British Empire should disappear from the world, carrying as it would, France down with it and thus involving all Europe and Britain in economic and social demoralization and despair in which Germany, Russia and Asia Minor are today."

REDESTRUCTING FIGHT

After waiting for several days in an effort to discover the plans of the proponents of constitutional revision, the fight on the State's part to reestablishment as at present provided, today decided to proceed to the next step, calling for attention early next week a proposal to amend the Constitution to prevent the Assembly in the rural districts and counties of the State. The existing method of electing representatives to the Assembly is by the method of "at-large" voting.

The backers of this frank effort to revise the Constitution and to reestablishment as at present provided, today decided to proceed to the next step, calling for attention early next week a proposal to amend the Constitution to prevent the Assembly in the rural districts and counties of the State. The existing method of electing representatives to the Assembly is by the method of "at-large" voting.

PETROGRAD OVERTAKEN BY TERROR

Populace in Hysteria Over Rumor Jupiter Will Bring About Judgment Day

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

PETROGRAD, April 6.—Petrograd is filled with hysteria. A wave of religious emotion is filling the old capital where thousands are convinced that the world is coming to an end. A rumor arose from a scientific report that a planet Jupiter, which is off its course, would collide with the earth or sun, ending the earth's existence with one grand slam.

So serious is the hysteria, that the Petrograd city council of Science has called a series of meetings everywhere, inviting the public to hear full explanations that Jupiter's veering off at an angle is not going to end the world.

The different elements are differently affected. The religiousists assert that Jupiter's collision with the earth will bring about the end of the world. Some say the Jupiter will collide with the world in Russia because the families failed to stamp out Bolshevism. Others say that it will occur in America because that nation is too plutocratic.

The intelligentsia is giving lectures at the clubs and movies, asserting that the stories are merely fantasies.

(BY A. P. MURPHY)

SANTA CRUZ, April 6.—J. R. Master, real estate dealer, was sentenced to life imprisonment today on conviction of murder by beating to death his wife, Mrs. Lizzie Master, with an iron bar in their home February 22. The court declared the crime as one of the worst in the State in twenty-five years.

It was announced from the bench that the four minor children of Master would be taken care of by Santa Cruz society.

WOMEN TOOK UP ARMS

One Fought in Revolution, Another in Civil War Both Were Pensioned

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—The unique records of two women who served as private soldiers, one throughout the Revolutionary war, the other in the Civil War, fighting on the battlefield and having been discovered in the files of the Department of War, were made public today.

Both women succeeded in hiding their sex from the other soldiers and the fact that they were women was only discovered when they were awarded pensions by the government. Their names are Deborah Gannett and "Albany" D. J. Cahler, or Rodgers, and they are the only women in American history who were paid pensions by the United States for actual military service.

The first of these women warriors was Deborah Gannett of Massachusetts. She enlisted April 1781, in the Massachusetts regiment commanded by Col. Henry Jackson, under the assumed name of Robert Shurtliff, and served until November, 1783, as a private soldier, when she was honorably discharged.

She fought at the battle of Yorktown, where she was wounded, and was in the ranks when Lord Cornwallis was captured by the Revolutionary troops. Her real identity was revealed after the war, and in 1810 Congress passed a special bill for the relief of her heirs, awarding them a pension in which she was described as "Deborah Gannett, a soldier of the Revolution."

The second woman was Albany D. J. Cahler, whose real name was Rodgers, but whose Christian name was never revealed. She enlisted as a private in Co. G, Ninety-fifth Illinois Infantry, in August, 1862, and in 1863 was promoted to sergeant. She was a native of Illinois, and was 19 years of age, with blue eyes and auburn hair.

During the war she was a farmer and her residence was Belleville, Ill. During the war she was a farmer and her residence was Belleville, Ill. During the war she was a farmer and her residence was Belleville, Ill.

VENEZUELAN OIL

BOTHERS MEXICO

American Capital Is Going to New Fields

Southern Neighbors Taking

Matter Seriously

Production, However, Will

Be Deciding Factor

BY JACK SEAR-HUNT

(REUTERS DISPATCH)

MEXICO CITY, April 6.—Reports continue that Venezuela's oil fields are attracting American capital from Mexico's fields. The latest and newest of them, as indicated by conversation in oil circles on the subject, is gradually assuming a seriousness deserving of more than merely passing notice.

Excelsior devoted a strong editorial to the subject this morning, pointing out that capital is seeking new fields when it is a known fact that Mexico's oil possibilities are still scarcely explored.

The March decrease in exports the editorial explains, indicates there is something vitally wrong, when it is admitted that, next to the United States, Mexico is the greatest oil country in the world. Perhaps it is untrue that Tabasco

Chapas is equal to Tamaulipas and Veracruz in oil resources, and that American geologists who have made the minutest study of the new regions are merely bluffing.

ACTION WORKS

The editorial significantly points out that it is strange that powerful United States interests are not turning South America-ward when their greatest field lies on the land of their next-door neighbor. The same old difficulty again

Unusual Condition Arises in April 28 Event

Action Prompted by Ruling of Coast Conference

Peacemakers Likely to Offer Sift Opposition

The University of Southern California track team may be defeated by itself in the Redlands A.A.U. track and field meet April 28. Because of a ruling of the Pacific Coast Conference which prohibits freshmen competing with the varsity, the Trojans will enter their freshmen as a separate team. As the U.S.C. varsity squad will be without the services of Charley Paddock, who will be in the Coast Conference which prohibits freshmen competing with the varsity, the Trojans will enter their freshmen as a separate team. BALL PARK WATER-LOGGED

Too Much Dampness Causes Another Postponement of Angel-Oak Diamond Doings

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS
Too much welcome rain splashed the grounds on the night before with the result that the Angel-Oak series remained bogged down. But with favorable conditions the baseball season will be resumed today with a game between the two teams. The grounds were so water-logged that the game was postponed for the second time. OXY FRESHMEN POUNCE UPON COVINA HIGH SCHOOL SQUAD

Occidental's speedy freshman track and field squad gave the Covina High School team a thrashing in a 11-10 score yesterday at Patterson Field.

Several fast times were clocked, considering the heavy wind that was blowing. Herb Morey, of Occidental, was the hero of the day, capturing first place in the 100, 220 and 440. He also placed third in the relay. Paddock accounted for a good many of the Col's points also. Coach McIntosh stated that the team had not been out much for two weeks—since the Central League meet—which accounted for the poor showing. Warrel of Occidental was the hero of the day in the 100, 220 and 440. He also placed third in the relay. Paddock accounted for a good many of the Col's points also.

MACBETH GRABS OPENER

Wilshire Prexy Shoots Low Score at Opening of New Course at Ambassador

BY BOB LOCKE
"Uncle" Ed Tufts yesterday afternoon officially opened the Ambassador miniature golf course with a mighty maul drive that sent the gutta percha pellet flying several feet over the green into the plovered ground about the hole. With a clever niblick shot and a dead eye putt the president of the Southern California Golf Association started the new course on its useful way. The nine holes are complete in every detail, and with the exception of distance, it is an ideal course. About thirty men players took part in the opening-day tournament, and from the results turned in it seemed that the course was no easy thing to play in par or near par. Most players played their shots too hard and rolled over the greens into the well-placed sand traps. Others, sensing the shortage of the holes, played into the first traps. This coupled with the fact that three-inch cups were used, made the game sporty.

STUART STEEDS TRIUMPH

Seattle Horseman's Entries Capture Most Honors in Equine Show at Ambassador Arena

But this seems sure, that of all God's creatures the horse is the most beautiful and the noblest. The horse may not be the most intelligent of animals, compared for example to the dog. MACBETH GIRL WINS

The $500 stake for roadsters was won by Blackie Girl, owned by Mrs. W. F. Roth, San Francisco.

Mr. Stuart's Glorious Glory took the first in a smart walk-trot class, for men riders, and Kippie McGee, the same owner, took second. Mr. English on his chestnut mare Bettina being content (but not very) with third place. There was another class of Kentucky rocking-chairs. Lou Ann, the five-gaited steed that won the championship on the night before, was not entered in this class, which was won by Shindad, the famous 3-year-old gelding of Mr. Rowe. Shindad was in good form, but Mr. Stuart's Miracle Man took a second place that was not without its glory. The fancy-gaited horse and the hunters appear to arouse the greatest interest among the crowds, but it is almost always so with horse shows in this country.

Ray Schauer is matched against Benny Marks in the main event of the Lyceum A.C. weekly card, tonight. Schauer has failed twice against Marks, although both of them have been ear-to-ear struggles. Lee Barloga, a new heavy weight who is being groomed for a bout with George Lamson, will meet Charlie Wagner in the semi-main event. An added attraction will be a grudge fight between George Gearhardt and Gilbert Castillo of Ontario. Other bouts follow: Benny Dias vs. Young Nino, 115 pounds; Dum-

DEFER EXTRA DOINGS

To have played on these grounds would have been to sacrifice a lot of athletes with dependent families to make a Fleming's holiday. Those who have ever done the Australian crawl through the fertile fair of Flinders will know what is meant. No player could have reached his way to a stolen base through the grove of Washington Park. But with springing, the use of sawdust and gasoline it is expected to have the grounds about as good as new by this afternoon.

BLUE RIBBON TO FRANCINA

Barbara and Mrs. James Parker stood out for clever handling of their mounts. The blue ribbon was taken by Mr. English's mare Francina, ridden by Miss Burns.

COULD HARDLY DO HER WORK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Eat, Sleep and Feel Better Every Way

Chicago, Ill.—"I was weak and run down and in such a nervous condition that I could hardly do my work. I was tired all the time and dizzy, and could not sleep and had no appetite. I tried different medicines for years, but they did not help me. Then I read in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for other women and gave it a trial. I began to eat better and could sleep, and consider it a wonderful medicine. I recommend it to my friends and will never be without it."—Mrs. M. O. GILBERT, 2640 S. Marshfield Ave., Chicago, Ill.

It is such letters as these that testify to the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This woman speaks from the fullness of her heart. She describes as correctly as she can her condition, first the symptoms that bothered her the most, and later the disappearance of those symptoms. It is a sincere expression of gratitude.

For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so praised by women.

I wish I could wear a low neck dress.

Why spend time wishing that erup-tion did not show on your back and arms, when Radol Ointment will doubtless clear it away entirely?

PAIR BELIEVED SLAIN BY GANG

Revenge Is Seen in Deaths of Women in New York

Blood-Stained Auto Sought by Investigators

Husband of Victim Quizzed and Proves Alibi

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

NEW YORK, April 6.—Bodies of two young women, slashed to death, were found on a lonely road near the south shore of Staten Island today. The police believe the two, who were identified as Mrs. Irene Blandino of Jersey City and Denise McMahon of Utica, were murdered somewhere on Staten Island and carried to the spot in an automobile.

A bloody butcher knife, with a six-inch blade, was found a few feet from Mrs. Blandino's body. Dr. Charles Brandon, assistant medical examiner for Richmond borough, said the man or men who committed the crime evidently knew something of the butcher trade. The women's throats were cut and they had been stabbed in the back.

THROWN FROM AUTO

They were found fifteen or twenty feet apart, evidently having been thrown from an automobile. Scratches on the bodies and tears in the clothing indicated that the women had put up a strong fight for their lives.

A general alarm was sent out for a blood-stained automobile. The police were also investigating a report that a red motor car containing two men made the ferry trip to Perth Amboy early today. Ferry terminals in Staten Island, Brooklyn, New York and New Jersey were ordered watched.

Mrs. Blandino had a cork leg below the left knee, and the finding of a bill for it in her purse led to the identification.

James Blandino, the woman's husband, who runs a barber shop; Nicholas De Grogio, his brother-in-law and partner, and Rinaldo di Lorenzo, an employee, were questioned by the police. The husband has apparently established an alibi.

Jersey City police think it may have been a gang murder. Before her marriage to Blandino, Mrs. Blandino was the widow of Frank Bongiovanni, Jersey City, according to the Jersey City police. Bongiovanni was suspected of having been at one time a blackhand gang leader, the police said. He was arrested on Jan. 2, 1932, in connection with the murder of two men on that day in the saloon of Vincent Garofalo in Jersey City. He was released on bail. A gang of men attacked him on May 17, 1932, in a saloon on Grand street, cut arteries in one of his legs and left him there. He bled to death.

VICTIM OF SAME GANG

Mrs. Blandino may have been slain by the same gang, as an added act of revenge. Her companion, it is thought, may have been killed so she could give no information.

The police say they have information that Mrs. Blandino and Miss McMahon visited dance halls in Jersey City.

Evidently the motive was not robbery, as $15 was found in the pocket of Mrs. Blandino's coat. An autopsy will show whether the women had been attacked.

Detective Sergeant Graham of the Staten Island Bureau this afternoon found a hackman who said he drove two girls and two swarthy men to the vicinity of the crime, soon after midnight.

Colored Forced to Class on Amount of Feeling

LONDON, April 6.—The employment of a troupe of American colored comedians in a show making the reputation of London's famous theatre, the Empire, and the employment by another troupe of a second band of dusky comedians for another revue soon to be given have resulted in severe and somewhat bitter criticism.

TITANIC SCREEN
SETTING FILMEDLouvre Palace Ballroom Is at United StudiosTotal Expense of Scene to Exceed $100,000Sets Record for Size and Material Used

At the United Studios last night filming was started on the immense Louvre palace ballroom for "Aahs of Vengeance," the spectacular historical drama of the sixteenth century. The scene, which Norma Talmadge is making under Frank Lloyd's direction for Joseph M. Schenck productions.

The total expense of this ballroom scene alone is expected to exceed $100,000. The scene is one of the most brilliant and impressive ever made of the tale.

A double window record is claimed by the Schenck forces in erecting this set. No other indoor set ever built approaches this either in size or richness of construction, according to Stephen Geosson, Miss Talmadge's art director.

TRIBUTE TO CITY

The set is a tribute to this city, as nowhere else in the world could so large a set be erected in all its details and every bit of material assembled without outside resource," said Mr. Geosson.

The set is 215 feet long and ninety feet wide. It represents the ballroom of Charles IX's palace. Here takes place the ball on St. Bartholomew's Eve, Norma Talmadge and Director Frank Lloyd, Theodore Kosloff was especially engaged to stage the dances, which are interpreted according to the period by a large ballet. To add reality to the illustration, a special score of sixteenth century French music was prepared to co-ordinate with the dances.

INTERWEAVE PERIODS
Three weeks were spent by Mr. Geosson and two assistants in designing the set. The public library, private collections and art galleries were scoured for descriptions and portraits of the costumes, architecture and appointments of the ballroom. To duplicate the ballroom it was necessary to go into the detail of Tudor, Elizabethan, Francis I and later French interior decoration, and to work out a scheme for interweaving these different styles so they would blend for the camera.

Every item of the set proper had to be built. The throne, furnishings and lightings are exact replicas, but genuine could not be begged, borrowed or stolen. Then, too, the necessity of exaggerating the size of certain effects to conform to camera perspective, added to the burden of detail. The ability to meet every requirement without sending out of Los Angeles for material or equipment is the highest possible tribute to the city's production efficiency, Geosson said.

HUNDREDS WORK ON IT
Actual work of constructing the set covered a period of a month, with more than 200 artisans working day and night. As many as 150 carpenters were at work on the same day. The plaster designing, too, was done by hand. The French interior decoration, and to work out a scheme for interweaving these different styles so they would blend for the camera.

HOME DUTIES BENEATH HER

New York Doctor-Husband Says Temperament and Jealousy of Pianist Wife Were Too Much

His wife's temperament was wholly unsuited to the requirements of domestic life, Dr. Edward J. Franklin, prominent New York physician, testified in Judge Keefe's court yesterday. He was granted a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Stella Franklin, noted concert pianist. Dr. Franklin said he was married in April, 1908, and that his wife soon evidenced a dislike of home duties. He said she declared any domestic work was beneath her station, and refused to conduct his home.

The husband said Mrs. Franklin also revealed the musician's traditional lack of control, often throwing the nearest object to her hand at him during their disagreements. But Dr. Franklin said his wife's unreasoning jealousy was what made life unbearable for him. He said she constantly accused him of association with his women patients. His wife evidenced an affidavit from his brother, Samuel, kept seventy men under Leon Told, noted Italian sculptor, at work on twenty-four-hour shifts for three weeks. Twenty-five tons of plaster was used and over 10,000 feet of lumber.

Lighting for this single ballroom scene was completed in 1900. Each of the three nights, this represents the cost of current rental of equipment for 1900. The electricians. Seven generators, developing enough current for the lighting needs of a city of 100,000 population, are required for illumination. Five cameras are used in shooting the scene.

Laid Away in Casket on Studio Grounds

Captain, Buster Keaton's prize Belgian police dog, which was killed by an automobile Wednesday, was buried Thursday in a small plot on the Keaton studio grounds. A favorite at the studio, the entire studio force attended the ceremony. During his life, Captain was inseparable from Buster. He slept on the rug beside the star's bed. Traveled constantly in the Keaton car and scarcely ever left the comedians.

In addition, Captain had more than a sentimental interest for the studio. He was the only dog who Talmadge, for it was as a wedding present that Constance Talmadge gave Captain to Mr. and Mrs. Keaton more than a year ago.

De Mille Signs
Military Aide
of Gen. Allen

Capt. Alfred Barton, six years with the Army of Occupation in Europe, has shaken from his feet the dust of Coblenz in favor of the sidewalks of Los Angeles. Barton, military aide to Gen. Henry T. Allen of the Army of Occupation, left Germany in February after a service which started June 1917. More recently he has been connected with the Inter-Allied Rhineland High Commission.

Capt. Barton, a Philadelphian by birth, has been signed by Cecil B. De Mille to assist Paul I. Zimmerman, art director. Barton was set to work on details connected with the making of a picture for Paramount pictures of a film version of "The Ten Commandments."

This latest recruit to films has the Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre. Barton's military experience will be called upon in the handling of crowds which are said to be a feature of an episode of the story which Jeanie Macpherson is evolving from the Decalogue.

Girl's Illness
Halts Filming
of Harte Story

The proposed departure of the George Melford Company for Boulder Creek Canyon, near Santa Cruz, where filming of Bret Harte's immortal story, "Salomy Jane," is to be done in its original atmosphere, was temporarily postponed Thursday night, owing to the serious illness of Jacqueline Logan, who is to make her initial effort for stardom in this production.

For several days Miss Logan has been ill in addition to her cold, and night was reported by her mother, Mrs. Marion Logan, to be attended by two doctors and on the verge of pneumonia. This production, which will mark the crucial part in her career, will be held up for several days until Miss Logan has recovered sufficiently to make the trip.

More than 100 people and seventy-five horses are scheduled to make the pilgrimage to this vicinity, where the original scene of Harte's story is laid.

CULVER CITY STANDS FOR FREDERICKSCommittee Formed to Boost Candidate for Congress
From Tenth District

Culver City is preparing to support Capt. John D. Fredericks for Congress in the special election set for May 1 in the Tenth District. Acting with characteristic promptness, the town has formed the first Fredericks-for-Congress Club and today petitions bearing endorsements for Capt. Fredericks are being circulated in Culver City.

The club is nonpartisan and includes Democrats, Republicans and Independents. It has started off with a membership of 250 and a promise by the founders that the rolls will carry the names of 500 signers before the end of next week.

Prominent business and professional men of Culver City are active in the new club. Officers and the executive committee include Harry H. Culver, Mayor Clyde Slater, Della Williams, Mrs. Frank Wilcox, Mrs. B. D. Dryborough, Mrs. V. R. Day, Will Richards, Ed. Jones, Milton Gardner, Dan Combs, Reeve Houck, Gen. Robert A. Wankowski, Clarence Loop, Eugene Webb, M. E. Cooper and Earl Bobie.

The Culver City people are interested in the dredging and development of Ballona Creek under the supervision of the government engineers and the new club believes that the town's ambitions can best be advanced by sending Capt. Fredericks to Washington to represent the Tenth District Congress. The dredging of Ballona Creek would give Culver City a waterway, something that the town feels is essential to its further growth.

"Times" Contest Story
Shows Best Readers Are Advertisers

That one of the largest groups of people who read Times want ads consists of the advertisers themselves is an important point brought out in the following prize-winning anecdote submitted in The Times' classified advertising contest by R. B. Bannister, 3309 West Seventeenth street, Los Angeles:

I wish to show where The Times' advertisements worked double for me. On or about the 15th day of March, 1923, I read an advertisement in The Times, "Flat Building for Sale." I at once called on the owner and secured a listing. Through my advertisement in The Times I secured a purchaser. On April 1, 1923, I closed a sale of this property, receiving $1500 in cash for same, and this was all profit. I closed a sale of this property in The Times for the past twelve years, and have also used in twenty-two states, the Union, and consider The Times the best of all.

Silver Mining Reacts to News of Early Readjustment

Producers Less Hopeful of Government Aid

Cotton Movement; Sugar, Oil, Steel Market

It was expressed yesterday in the New York silver market that the government purchase of silver bullion under the Pittman act would be completed by July 1 instead of September 1. As the market had originally understood. Quotations reflected this assumption. Silver advanced from New York selling at 44 1/2, off 1/2 cent.

Through the operation of the Pittman act, silver mining companies in the United States have undergone a healthy expansion. The difference between the former prevailing price of 50 cents and the Pittman purchase at $1. Under this act, all domestic silver output must be taken by the government at the prescribed price until the limit specified is reached. Should the government purchases cease on July 1 without some form of extension or substitution, the silver industry in this country unquestionably will be depressed.

A strong demand has been present in the open market from China, India and London, but if the domestic output is suddenly dumped in the open market, the price would necessarily undergo drastic downward revision to a point where little or no profit remains for the producer. The Chinese demand has been especially broad of late because of the acute shortage of silver existing in that country, but it could hardly be expected to continue in the face of greatly increased production.

Silver producers have been hopeful that the Senate Silver and Gold Commission would recommend legislation to insure a continuation of government aid to the industry, but nothing has been forthcoming. It is understood that the commission will hold active sessions in April under the chairmanship of Senator Charles McNary.

Aside from the importance of $1 silver to the strictly silver mining companies, the maintenance of the boom in copper shares is held by some commentators to be dependent on the price received for the silver output of the copper mining companies. Silver forms a substantial portion of the revenue accruing to some of the leading copper corporations, such as Anaconda Copper, with a year's silver production of 11,000,000 ounces. American Smelting and Refining Co. produced 10,000,000 ounces of silver in 1922. The United States Smelting, Refining and Mining Company, 18,000,000 ounces, and Phelps-Dodge Corporation, with 2,400,000 ounces yearly.

The present silver price has greatly assisted the copper companies in their long struggle to attain a parity with the price of copper. The loss of government aid and the consequent drop of the market to around the 50-cent level would seriously deplete the copper industry in the upward progress it is making now. As applied to Anaconda, the 50-cent differential means an extra $4,500,000 a year, or equivalent to $2.17 on the common stock.

GALVESTON COTTON
A considerable portion of the American cotton that has been purchased this season for Japan and India is moving through the port of Galveston. For the month of March, cotton shipments to Japan amounted to 53,418 bales, as compared with 46,395 bales during February, and 29,370 bales in March, 1922. Total cotton exports through Galveston in March were 149,893 bales, as compared with 143,251 bales in March, 1922.

Exports to France last month also showed a decrease over February, aggregating 14,740 bales, as compared with 17,822 bales. The exports to France, however, are considerably below the March, 1922, total, when 18,870 bales were shipped to that country. Great Britain took 20,456 bales of cotton from this port last month, as compared with 23,215 bales in February, and 20,940 bales in March, 1922. Exports to continental Europe aggregated 14,843 bales last month, as compared with 12,147 bales in February, and 14,991 bales in March, 1922.

Exports of cotton to date this season from Galveston total 1,472,303 bales, as compared with 1,322,056 bales at this stage of the season last year.

WYOMING SUGAR
Net profits for the Wyoming Sugar Company for the 1922-23 season amounted to in excess of $90,000 after operating costs, taxes and depreciation on plant equipment, according to an internal report released through Carstens & Karles, Inc., underwriters of the company's $450,000 bond issue last summer.

President Eccles, in a statement accompanying the report, says that the above figure is not entirely reflective of the company's profits because a certain amount of sugar is still held, on which a profit of around $150,000 is expected.

Bank Officers Honor Memory of A. J. Waters

As a testimony of appreciation for his services as an attorney at large for the Los Angeles branch of the Citizens' National Bank and Trust Co., the officers of that institution met yesterday afternoon at the Los Angeles branch of the Citizens' National Bank and Trust Co. to honor the memory of Arthur J. Waters, who died on March 21, 1922, after a long illness. The officers of the bank met at the Los Angeles branch of the Citizens' National Bank and Trust Co. to honor the memory of Arthur J. NEW YORK RUBBER MARKET IMPROVES

NEW YORK, April 6.—(Associated Press.)—The rubber market improved today, with prices for all grades of rubber rising. The market was active, with prices for all grades of rubber rising. The market was active, with prices for all grades of rubber rising.

DAILY TRADE TALK

National Banks Register Sound Increases; Strong Money Situation; Walnut Outlook Good

Deposits in the nine national banks in Los Angeles have increased $15,002,700.84, or 7 per cent over total deposits reported Dec. 31, 1922. This was indicated yesterday when the Comptroller of Currency issued a call for the condition of national banks as of April 3.

Deposits reached the new high record of $214,438,101.60, a total relatively of the new wealth into this territory at an unabated speed. Loans and discounts increased $1,000,000, or 10 per cent over the total reported Dec. 31, 1922.

In deposits, cash and loans and discounts, the First National Bank recorded the largest amounts. The Merchants' National was second in deposits, and third in available cash, while the Citizens' National was third in deposits, second in cash, and fourth in loans and discounts.

STRENGTH OF MONEY
There never was a stronger money situation, on its face, than that which exists today. The United States has more money than it ever had and more than any other country ever had. A large proportion of this money is in banks, and the rest is in the hands of the public.

When it is remembered that the holdings of the Reserve banks have been averaged at $1,400,000,000, or roughly speaking, one quarter of its gold, James J. Call, analyzing the situation, can find no indication on the surface of any undue accumulation of money, or any undue accumulation of money, or any undue accumulation of money.

Just how far prices have advanced is, of course, a question. The wholesale price indexes of various goods have risen about 30 to 35 points in the last year, or an increase of about 18 per cent. This, however, is in a selected list of wholesale prices. The changes in retail values are in some cases less, and in others more. Some basic products have advanced a good deal more sharply than others.

BEAN CROP
There will be very little carry over this season according to bean growers. Present stocks for the entire State of California are estimated at 250,000 bags of Lima; 127,000 bags of small white; 180,000 bags of pink; 24,000 bags of baby Lima; 47,000 bags of large white; and 160,000 bags of other beans. The major portion of these are out of the hands of producers.

These stocks, with the exception of the pink beans, are under those of a year ago, with plentiful evidence that the 1923 crop will be materially under normal. April rains prove larger than the average.

WALNUT OUTLOOK
It is early to predict the condition or size of the new walnut crop, but it has not been affected by adverse conditions. There is no reason to look for material decrease. The recent rains have been very beneficial to this and

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
NEW YORK, April 6.—California oranges were strong today, with prices ruling about 10 to 20 cents higher. Navel sold $2.50 extra, $2.50 per box. California tangerines sold $2.97 to $3.32 per half-box.

Toronto lemons sold $1.47 1/2 to $1.7 1/2 per box. Florida oranges ranged $2.25 to $2.75. Florida grapefruit were $1.25 to $1.53 per box.

CANNED FRUIT
Canned food specialties like grapefruit and fruit salad are meeting with good demand, while the market on staple items continues quiet. The distribution of canned grapefruit is picking up in good fashion, the trade from all parts of the country showing interest in this comparatively new product.

The Porto Rico packs appear to meet more favor than the Florida fruit. The popularity is merely a matter of taste, and with improved packing methods the Florida fruit will gain recognition. As yet the California packers have not entered the game on a large scale.

California canned fruit salad is meeting with good demand, and practically all of the large California packers are now putting out this product under their own brands, while others all over the country are featuring the fruit salad under their private labels.

DRIED FRUITS
Spot prices on Lake country, California, dried pears have been cut by one prominent factor in the market. The new prices are 17 1/2 cents for fancy, 14 cents for choice, 11 cents for standard, and 10 cents for bulk.

It is believed these low prices will stimulate the movement of dried fruit and effect a clearance of remaining holdings of the 1922 crop.

Disruptive movement of dried California prunes is picking up, but prices remain unchanged. It is understood that the recent heavy buying of Oregon prunes was for chain-store account. Should the activities to California prunes on the part of the chain stores be continued, it is believed that the market for California prunes will be cleared up.

COFFEE, TEA
Coffee futures met much better success today, with prices for all grades of coffee rising. The market was active, with prices for all grades of coffee rising.

RICE, BEANS, PEAS
There was no condition noted that called for material revision of price in rice and beans. The bean situation has been disturbed by free imports from the Philippines, but the market for domestic beans is generally held at 3 1/2 cents, but this has been held at 3 1/2 cents.

BUTTER, EGGS
The butter market shows little if any change. Call sales, 25 tubs extra at 19 1/2 cents; 50 at 19 cents; 100 at 18 1/2 cents; 200 at 18 cents; 400 at 17 1/2 cents; 800 at 17 cents; 1600 at 16 1/2 cents; 3200 at 16 cents; 6400 at 15 1/2 cents; 12800 at 15 cents; CITY TO STRESS TERMINAL NEED

Commerce Commission Will Hear Pleas Today

Grade-Crossing Abolition to Be Requested

Evidence Is Sought Here on Rail Grouping

The case under consideration deals chiefly with the idea of grouping the western railroads into several long steel strands, for economic, engineering and financial reasons.

The hearings under way just now are not dealing with terminals, but Commissioner J. B. Campbell of Spokane said last night that at least one witness on the Plains terminal question will be heard today. The commission is expected to the idea of picking up any information on that subject which he can gather on this trip without sidetracking the paramount issue, he pointed out.

Richard Sachs, author of the Sachs plan upon which the Platts terminal case was built, appeared before the commission in San Francisco, and Cline Attorney Gen.

He will stress the point to the commissioners that no order should be issued by them in the matter of the proposed consolidation and rearrangement of the western railroads that will fail to include abolition of grade crossings in Los Angeles and the building of a union-passenger depot at the Plaza. Public necessity, as well as the economical and efficient operation of the railroads, regardless of any consolidation, City Attorney Stephens will point out, require that the roads make these improvements in their Los Angeles facilities.

The city has pending before the commission in Washington an application for an order for the removal of the grade crossings and the building of the union depot.

The California Railroad Commission has been represented at all of the western hearings of the commission of Mr. Bachus, who thoroughly familiar with the Los Angeles grade crossings and union depot situation. Mr. Stephens, in his statement, will declare that the city strongly supports the California Railroad Commission's order that the roads entering Los Angeles abolish grade crossings and build a union depot.

Mr. Campbell said last night that the trunk line-group idea is not meeting with serious opposition anywhere. It is something, he asserts, which the commission may work out and suggest, but cannot

As to whether the California Railroad Commission expedited its authority, as is contended by the steam roads, when it ordered them to construct a union terminal at the Plaza, Commissioner Campbell says he cannot give an opinion because, to the best of his recollection, no similar case has come before him.

switchman for the Southern Pacific Company, was crushed beneath the wheels of a freight train at the port early yesterday while he was making his last coupling before going off shift. He died half an hour later on the operating table of a harbor hospital.

Informed by Dr. A. J. Langan, police surgeon, that he could not live, the injured man asked that his friend, S. B. Osborne, meet his wife on her arrival at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. Steele came here from Salt Lake City two months ago in quest of his wife.

What Do We Care for Immigration Laws?

Directed by George Nathan Adams

PEN POINTS
By the Staff

And summer has come and the first installment of the income tax is far behind.

Let us not be alarmed because many of our elders regret the passing of the good old days and many of the younger set rejoice that they are not so painfully moral as their old-fashioned forbears.

These are merely symptoms of excessive growth—if each generation did not imagine itself a little more wicked and devilish than its predecessor the world would be a more monotonous place.

Every age has had its hand-wringers and its head-shakers. A picture of the good old days is a picture of progress. Our excessive lamentations over modern tendencies date back to the dawn of time, and he who is not content with the present is not content with the past.

Probably nothing would have so exasperated the early Victorians as to suppose they were going to be held up as examples of the sturdy virtues of their grandfathers. In their time they were extremely fast and sleeky.

They had as many writers to deplore their attractive wickedness as we have today to advertise ours. Thoreau devoted many pages to the desperate haste and desperate enterprises of his stolid New England compatriots. And how wistful the English said of these worthy Victorians:

"No grandeur now in nature or in book. Delights are Euphrates, avarice, expense."

This is idolatry and these are adores.

And to these morals and manners some reformers would have us return.

But what was the plain living over whose departure the poet of the Victorians was spilling his regrets? Turn back another 100 years and these ancients were talking precisely as we are talking to moral examples.

Hear what Oliver Goldsmith said of the days of plain living and high thinking:

"I'll raise the land to hastening greed, I'll raise the land to hastening greed, I'll raise the land to hastening greed."

Where wealth accumulates and men decay."

And he continues to deplore the passing of the sturdy virtues of the preceding century.

And of that century the greatest of poets wrote in language almost identical with the catalogue of the evils ascribed to the breed of twentieth-century conditions.

The spacious Elizabethan era, evidently here the same "fardels" that we hear today are ascribing to a more exaggerated degree.

There were the same "purpy times," the same law's delay, the same quarrel over a word, the same quarrel over a word, the same quarrel over a word.

But it doesn't matter how far back you go in history, a passionate regret for the good old days has always been a source of comfort to those who were too late to grow up in their virtuous at-mosphere.

Rome at the height of its power for the same reason. The one horse republic that gave it a start.

WALT MASON.

Another Diplomatic Triumph

As the present administration proceeds to untangle the diplomatic snarl that accumulated during eight years of Democratic rule the country is beginning to learn the difference between silent and secret diplomacy. The latest diplomatic achievement has been the termination by mutual consent of the Lansing-Ishii pact.

Under that agreement the United States government recognized that Japan had a "special interest" in China.

Protests were made against this agreement, both in this country and China; for it was a manifest abandonment of the traditional "open-door" policy. It was generally characterized as an undignified surrender by our government of a highly important Pacific right.

Little has been heard of that Lansing-Ishii agreement during the last two years, although it was known to be contrary to the policy of a Republican administration. Now comes the simple announcement that by common consent it has been abrogated.

There has been no crowing, no beating of tom-toms on the part of the Harding administration. Nothing has been said or written that could be offensive in any way to the Japanese government. There were no threats, no displays of force, no exchange of ultimatums.

Silently but efficiently the conference went forward that led to the desired result. Nothing was done in secret. One objectionable convention was not canceled at the price of entering into another. The pact was discontinued after a conference of ambassadors; where it was held that the Lansing-Ishii agreement relating to China negotiated at the Washington conference rendered the Lansing-Ishii agreement unnecessary.

So much has been accomplished to bring about an era of peace and good will in the Pacific area during the last two years, and so unostentatiously, that one is fairly bewildered at the progress that has been made.

When the Republicans returned to power in 1921 the Anglo-Japanese Treaty was in force. The Japanese occupied Shanghai under an authority affirmed by the Versailles Treaty, and the Lansing-Ishii agreement hampered the activities of our own country, a fact that the sentiment was almost unanimous in the European capitals that a naval war between Japan and the United States could hardly be evaded.

Since then the limitation-of-armaments treaty has been signed; the Anglo-Japanese Treaty has lapsed; the Japanese have returned Shanghai to China; a nine-power agreement protecting all the territory in the Far East from aggression has been negotiated and the Lansing-Ishii agreement has been abrogated. Peaceful solution has been found for all the disputes that threatened to bring about a war between the American and the Japanese.

Reidson has so much been accomplished with so little ostentation. There has been no boasting of victories won; no country has suffered humiliation; and yet the diplomatic objectives of our government have been achieved.

One vice of Democratic diplomacy has been that the politicians always talked too much. They were too eager for front-page publicity. The machine never ran smoothly and went to the garage too often for repairs.

When the administration of the people of the Harding administration the ledger of the country will take note of the things that have been accomplished and compare them with the blunders and unfulfilled promises of other administrations. And they have learned to distinguish propaganda from actual achievement.

NO SUCH REPORTS ARE LOST
Fourteen years ago today Commander Robert M. Peary reached the North Pole and discovered a new hunk of ice. For centuries intrepid voyagers had vied with one another for the honor of being the first to carry their nation's flag to this mathematical pivot of the world's axis.

Commander Peary won this honor for the Stars and Stripes. As a reward for his discovery he was promoted to be a rear admiral in the United States Navy and became a national hero. Through him again was justified our belief in the rugged physique and indomitable spirit of the American man.

Fourteen years have passed since Peary tramped over ice fields never before trodden by the foot of man. There are still one another for the honor of being the first in the Arctic regions, but none with the geographical significance of this one, none the mapping of which will bring similar honors to another explorer.

Through all the intervening fourteen years nothing practical has resulted for the advancement of humanity from the discovery that raised Peary to a seat among the immortals. It hasn't added an ounce to the world's sustenance or a mile to the world's travel. Peary has been the first and the last to touch this somber and silent pole. His feat hasn't solved one economic problem or made life for any man, woman or child a mile more easy.

He who first set an oyster or fashioned a safety pin or designed a plowshare or made a wheel really did more for civilization. Yet nobody recalls who these useful members of society were. Everybody knows the name of the man who discovered the North Pole. Nearly everyone appreciates plows and wheels and good things to eat. North Poles are a drug on the market.

There is no paradox in this. It is a starting point for the imagination stirs him deep and leaves a more abiding effect than the things that minister to his creature comforts. Peary typified the eternal ambition of mankind to do rather than to be; set an example for those who believe in their determination to penetrate the unknown is a proof of our immortality.

RESULTS OF PROHIBITION
The numerous ways in which the prohibition law has fallen down have been commented on so extensively that it is difficult to find a new angle. In an interview recently given out by Roy A. Haynes, Federal Prohibition Commissioner, in which he summarizes the results of three years of prohibition enforcement. He considers the law far from a failure and his resume of what has been accomplished so far is quite enlightening.

Commenting on the agitation against it he points out that all laws are made primarily for the very people who object to them most vehemently. It is impossible to please everyone with a statute. The man with a fat insurance policy and a poor bank account, who also possesses an ostentatious science, is not greatly taken with the law against arson. As to the constant violations of the dry law, he shows that since the time of Moses we have had laws against murder and theft and yet the penitentiaries in every State are jammed with law-breakers. No law is 100 per cent effective, but he quotes statistics from the various States of women reformatories. How en masse have decreased 81 per cent under prohibition, and in Massachusetts the commitment of women to the reformatory has decreased 84 per cent. There has been a similar decrease of men arrested, although the results have not been so startling as in the case of female drunkards. All along the line the statistics show a decrease in cases of misdemeanor and an improvement in the morale of the poorer classes.

Mr. Haynes places the responsibility for the violation of the law and contempt for it squarely on the shoulders of the substantial citizen who makes a mock of the enactment. He sets a bad example to those about him, as a representative of the intelligent class of the community, and is far more guilty than the bootlegger. The commission states that whatever is the personal view of the law, it is part of the Constitution, which every citizen has sworn to uphold. To his mind, it is quite as immoral to break one law as another.

BATTING DOWN BUREAU
When the leaders of the Labor party in the House of Commons last week introduced and supported legislation for the nationalization of land in Great Britain the Red flag of socialism waved for the first time from the front opposition benches. Judging by the comments of the British press, this procedure had a chastening effect, alike on Parliament and on the country. Waving the Red flag before John Bull doesn't tend to mollify or conciliate him. It was the inevitable result of the last British election that the Liberals and Conservatives divided the vote of those who are not ready to pull down the Union Jack and run up the colors of Moscow, and the radical elements united behind the Labor candidates.

If a straight Socialist and non-Socialist vote were to be taken in the House, or in the country, the Socialists would be beaten at least four to one; but, by reason of the three-cornered electoral campaign, the Socialists have greater representation in Parliament than their numbers in the nation justify.

The bill for the socialization of land was beaten was no surprise to the members of the Labor group. They were well aware of their numerical weakness and of the unpopularity of their cause; but they are able to point with pride to the fact that the opposition in Parliament is limited to the nationalization of land. They argue with some show of reason that, if they remain in the opposition for the usual length of time, the government will be reversed on some question foreign to the land and they will be called upon to bring the government in. If this should take place nationalization would then be a government policy.

This condition has caused a measure of humiliation to Conservatives and Liberals alike; for both are strongly opposed to any further Socialistic experiments in the British government. The Liberals, divided between Lloyd George and Asquith, feel their position keenly; and a movement has been inaugurated to unite the two factions. Little progress has been made because neither of the ex-Premiers cares to sit in Parliament as a supporter of the other.

Asquith and his immediate friends have not forgotten Lloyd George for the part he played when the Asquith government was overthrown in 1916. They have not ceased to accuse Lloyd George of treachery and they are not inclined to forget. Another section of the Liberals, however, declines to accept orders from the husband of Margot; for a part of the British aristocracy will not forgive her for some of the indiscretions in her celebrated Memoirs.

United, the Liberals would be stronger than Labor and would be entitled to sit on the front opposition bench. That Labor should be unseated is the demand of a decided majority of the British electorate; and the Liberals are casting about to find a leader under whom the two sections of the Liberal party can be brought together. But it is plain that this will necessitate the elimination of both Asquith and Lloyd George. Winston Churchill has been suggested as the most likely compromise; but before that can be effected a seat must be found for him, as he was defeated last winter by a prohibitionist.

Nationalization of the land, or single tax, is not popular in England; and it is already cost the Labor party much of the prestige it won in the last election. Socialism is not a theory, but, as Lincoln used to say, "it won't wash."

WALLACE GIVES OPTIMISM TALK

Times' Radio Fans Are Told Depression Has Passed

Dawn of Prosperous Period Promised Farmers

Agriculture Secretary Hears of State's Needs

Less cowboys on Wyoming and Arizona ranches, owners of orchards in the Central and the West River Valley, growers of corn in Iowa and vineyardists in the San Joaquin and Yuma valleys heard Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace say over the Times radio last night that the clouds of depression and readjustment, which have hung over them for the past two years are about to lift.

Tomorrow will dawn bright and clear, he said, and a golden sun will rise upon a better day. All over the United States, Secretary Wallace assured, there appears to be growing a feeling of optimism.

Three weeks trip through the Southwest has convinced him that a brighter future lies ahead of the farmer.

Secretary Wallace is touring the West in order to learn how best to administer the affairs of the Department of Agriculture, and yesterday at a luncheon given by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce at the Elton, on Flower street, he was told some of the things he might do for California and her farmers.

Probably 500 guests had been invited to meet the Secretary.

T. H. Hines, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided. After the luncheon and speeches of welcome the meeting was turned over to C. B. Whitcomb, chairman of the agricultural committee of the chamber.

His visit to California, Secretary Wallace said, unfortunately must be brief. His view must be relatively a glance, for he has found that he must spend months in this one state alone, so widely diversified are its interests and its problems. He has planned to go as thoroughly into each phase of the state's agricultural development as his short stay will permit, and spend some time after his re-

SHERIFF RIVALS SHERLOCK

Traeger Startles Deputy by Singling Out Person They Sought in Large Crowd

Shades of Sherlock Holmes and Watson with his needle are hovering round the Sheriff's office to lend their occult aid in sleuthing. Perhaps the elusive Clara Phillips' hiding-place will be divulged by cards or crystals.

Sheriff Traeger himself is the newest convert to the ranks of Conan Doyle, according to Deputy Frank Dewar, who says that the Sheriff is displaying supernatural powers of divination and observation. He tells to groups of worried deputies the latest feat of the chief, performed yesterday, when the Sheriff, accompanied by Dewar, went down to an industrial district to look for an unknown man from whom they expected to gain information with regard to the whereabouts of a certain criminal.

The man was known by name, but not by sight or description. His name was found on the list of employees of a large factory, but the squad arrived during the noon hour and no one of the office force knew the coveted man, who was standing in a group of a hundred or more waiting for the 1 o'clock whistle to call them to work.

Sheriff Traeger and Dewar set down to wait for the return of the turn to Washington in an analysis of the situation.

UNDERGOES CHANGE With his induction into office, Secretary Wallace said, he was not only confronted with a department personnel suddenly increased from 1900 to 19,000, but found the country undergoing a period of industrial, financial and agricultural depression. For two years he has been held back bound, this being his first opportunity of getting into the field.

He then outlined a few of the problems confronting the department and told how his agents are striving to find solutions.

C. C. Traeger, president of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange and R. F. Wilcox, president of the California Nut Growers' Association, then explained in speeches of the situation.

Reforestation in Southern California was the subject of a short talk by Knowles Peterson, assistant farm adviser, speaking for the Los Angeles County Agricultural Conservation.

APPEAL AGAINST FEES An appeal for aid from the Department of Agriculture is a sign against plant pests was made by

T. W. Brown, who said that in some instances insects had been imported for sale per cent local to truck crops. Without assistance from the Federal government, Mr. Brown said he feared, the time will come when the entire truck garden crop of Southern California will be blighted by these insects.

Mr. Ford Carpenter, chairman of the committee on meteorology of the Chamber of Commerce, had as his subject, that of Southern California's climate. He could not foresee any but asked Secretary Wallace to lend a sympathetic ear to the interchange whereby weather conditions throughout the United States might be broadened.

J. A. McNaughton, general manager of the Los Angeles Union Stockyards, and Fred W. Harty, an independent cattleman, told of the live-stock industry around Los Angeles.

Following the luncheon Secretary Wallace spent the remainder of the day meeting various departments of the city and county, and private dinner given by T. H. Hines, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and J. W. Brown, president of the Los Angeles County Agricultural Conservation.

It was the guest last night at a dinner given by the Los Angeles County Agricultural Conservation.

W. A. Jump, budget officer of the department, who is accompanying him, J. T. Brooks, J. W. Brown, Fred W. Harty, J. W. Brown, and King C. Gillette, Mr. Brownberger is manager of a huge date plantation in the Coachella Valley.

A reception for Secretary Wallace has been planned jointly by the Iowa Association of Southern California, the De Moines Club and the Alumni Association of the Iowa Agricultural College, to be given tonight in the ballroom of the Alexandria Hotel.

The affair is to be entirely informal and open to men and women. Col. A. B. Shaw is president of the Iowa association, C. B. Williams represents the alumni of the agricultural school and W. B. Brown has charge of the arrangements for the De Moines Club.

LOCAL LAND OFFICE JUDGMENT AFFIRMED

MINERAL CLAIMS ALLOWED TO GRAPHITE COMPANY OVER PROTESTS

The General Land Office at Washington has affirmed the judgment of Register Valentine and Receiver Smith of the local Land Office, confirming to the Los Angeles Graphite Company patents covering five valuable graphite mines, lying five miles northeast of San Fernando, in the Pacifica Canyon country. The entries were protested by the Forest Service.

On May 12, 1921, Peter F. Rice and Henry McAnany filed mineral claims on six pieces of property, and later their right to the property was transferred to the Los Angeles Graphite Company, a corporation, which spent more than $100,000 in constructing a road to the mines, the erection of bunkhouses and a mill.

Then the forest officials filed a protest against the claims, asserting that in three years there had been no discovery of mineral, and on two that the necessary development work had not been performed. The local land officials ruled that sufficient expenditure had been made in all six claims, but ruled out one claim that had been used to furnish water for the operations, which the Los Angeles Graphite Company will be able to secure by complying with certain rules of the Land Office.

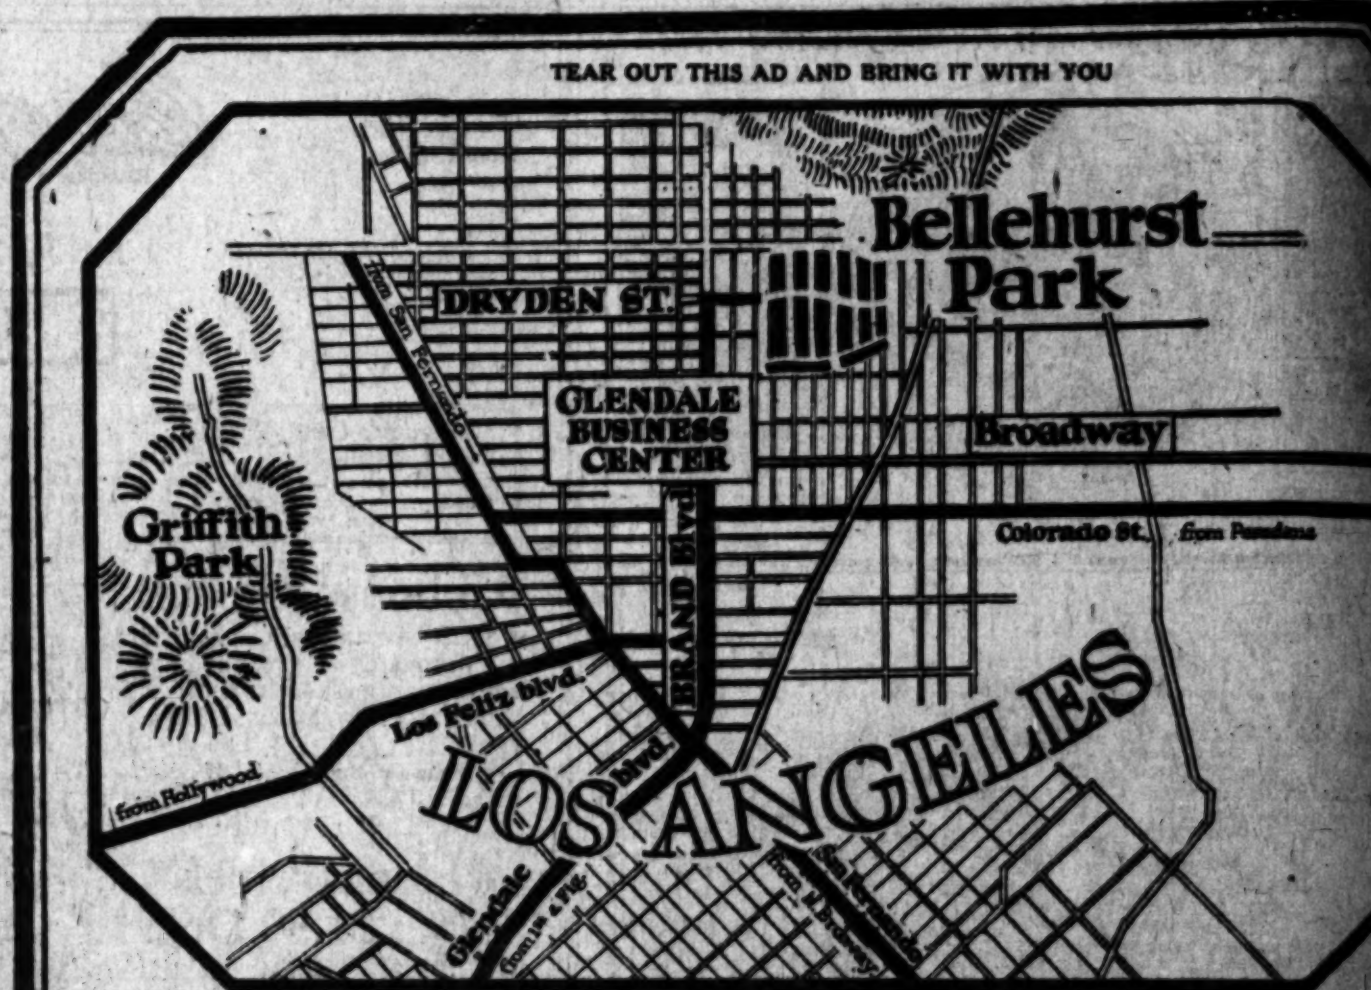

The discovery of graphite on the claims demonstrated that it existed in large formation, and the local Land Office laid down the proposition that mineral discoveries must be made on every claim in order to validate them, instead of what is known as the group plan, that allowed the patent to issue in cases where discoveries were made on a number of the contiguous claims.

SMALL CLASS ASKS TO BECOME CITIZENS

But a small class of applicants for citizenship appeared before Judge Tripp yesterday, and only eighteen passed muster. Divided by nationalities, they were as follows: Subjects of Great Britain, five; France, 1; Norway, 2; Czech, 2; and one each from Germany, Italy, Lithuania, Austria, Russia, Poland and Denmark.

Following the example set by some of the Federal judges in the East, Judge Tripp is inquiring closely for the reasons behind the request for a change in their Christian names. In a number of cases such privileges have been denied, on the ground that the court did not approve of the spectacle of foreign-born individuals with, in some cases, almost unpronounceable names, masquerading under a perfectly good American moniker. In such instances they have been compelled to accept names which still betray their nationality.

DEPUTY IS INJURED Deputy Sheriff John D. Wilmet was sitting in the Sheriff's office yesterday when some plaster fell from the ceiling on his head. He was removed to the Receiving Hospital and is in a precarious condition for emergency treatment. Police Surgeon Dismore dressed his wounds, which were slight.

THE REASONS WHY

HOLLYWOOD MAUSOLEUM

SINCE there is no single decision in life more important than the selection of a proper final resting place, you should know the reasons why entombment in Hollywood or Inglewood Mausoleums is the ideal form in this new age as it has been in the ages that have passed.

These buildings are not only magnificent—they are practical, substantial, permanent. Constructed of reinforced concrete, granite, marble and bronze, they defy the elements with resistive qualities that will keep them always in the beautiful condition in which you see them today.

Deterioration has no place in the construction of these buildings. Rain, wind and storm may not enter. Nothing, in fact, can disturb the solidity, the rugged character of their construction nor change the purpose which they serve.

As a further protection, the builders of these great sepulchres have provided an ample endowment fund which will care for them perpetually. Unlike even the Pyramids, these buildings will continue throughout the ages in their original condition with every element of beauty and permanence which the builders have provided.

Every known scientific principle has been used in these two structures; principles of construction as well as of ventilation. As a result, there is a soundness as well as a wholesomeness about the buildings which is unequalled in any other form of interment.

Interment costs in Hollywood or Inglewood Mausoleums are unusually reasonable. Very choice crypts may be had for $200, though others extremely well placed are priced at even much less. Sites are in preferred locations are priced in proportion.

Many people are surprised that crypts in mausoleums of such magnificence can be offered at such a reasonable cost. In comparison with the expense of a private tomb, the comparatively small cost in Hollywood or Inglewood Mausoleums is to be considered extremely low. And for this small cost the entire building of concrete, granite, marble and art glass is yours to call your own and to use at any time in any kind of weather.

Drive to Hollywood or Inglewood Cemeteries tomorrow and inspect these beautiful buildings.

Interest Aroused Proves Art of Cooking Not Lost

Winners to Be Announced
Next Saturday

Today marks the closing of The Times recipe contest, and all recipes must be submitted by 12 o'clock tonight to be considered by the judges in the awarding of prizes. Next Saturday's Times will announce the prize winners in both the dessert and the Spanish recipe contests. The interest aroused by the contests has conclusively proven that the culinary art is not a lost art in spite of the influence of apartments and hotels which tend to relieve the housewife of most of her duties in the kitchen and the family of the real home-cooked meals.

A few of the recipes received in the contest are as follows:

Petaluma Dumplings Cake
Take the whites of seven small fresh eggs, yolks of five eggs, one cup of granulated sugar, three-fourths cup of flour, half teaspoon of cream of tartar, one-half salt spoon of salt and sift. Measure and set aside flour and sugar. Beat the yolks thoroughly. Beat the whites half then add the cream of tartar and beat until stiff. In the whites stir the sifted sugar lightly, then add the yolks. Add the grated peel of one orange and juice of half the orange, add fruit and fold in it very lightly. Put in tube pan and bake in moderate oven about fifty minutes. Use boiled frosting to cover the cake. —Mrs. C. P. Charlton, 540 Jackson street, Pasadena.

Sponge Cake
One cup of sifted sugar, four eggs beaten separately, one teaspoon baking powder, one cup flour, two tablespoons orange juice. Bake in slow oven for forty-five minutes. This is an original recipe. —Emma E. Clifford, 3221 West thirty-third street, Los Angeles.

Delicious Doris's Food Cake
Cake—One cup sugar, half cup butter or any good shortening, one cup sweet milk or like amount of coffee, yolks of two eggs, two cups flour, one teaspoon soda dissolved in half cup of hot water and half teaspoon baking powder. Mix as for other kind of cake, add the following oatmeal and bake in layers.

Custard—Two-thirds cup sugar, two-thirds cup eggs or chocolate, one-half cup sweet milk. Cook until thick and set aside to cool. Filling—Two cups sugar, half cup white corn syrup, half cup cold water. Cook until it forms firm ball in cold water then add the syrup slowly to the whites of two eggs beaten stiff. Beat until it begins to cool and then add one teaspoon of vanilla. A cup of chopped nuts may be added to the filling. —M. C. Hopkins, 1912 Magnolia avenue, Los Angeles.

Egyptian Souffle
Place one ounce of best rice washed in two cups of boiling water and let stand for five minutes, then drain and add one and one-half pint of milk, pinch of salt, two level teaspoons of sugar, teaspoon vanilla and cook slowly until the rice is done. Put in dish four and half tablespoons butter, thirteen tablespoons flour and one-half cup sugar; mix well and add slowly one pint of milk and then the rice which should be just warm, the yolks of five eggs beaten well, mix and then fold in the beaten whites of five eggs. Butter a pudding dish, pour in soufflé, set in pan of hot water and bake thirty minutes in slow oven. Use all level measurements. —[H. R. Jones, 3711 South Park avenue, Los Angeles.

Twenty-four-Hour Special
One pound good marshmallows, one can pineapple (large size), one pint whipping cream, half pint coffee cream, yolks of three eggs, half pint apricot milk and one tablespoon corn starch. Cut marshmallows into small pieces with scissors, split grapes in halves, remove seeds, slice of pineapple to shreds. Pour hot water over almonds remove skins and cut into small pieces. Add juice of lemon to pineapple juice and put in cold place for twenty-four hours. In serving dip to the bottom of forced marshmallows, fruit and nuts. Cook yolks of eggs and one level tablespoon of cornstarch in the coffee cream, stirring carefully. Beat until cold then stir into the rest of cream which has been whipped stiff. Then stir the cream mixture into the fruit mixture stirring lightly in. Place in cold place for twenty-four hours. —Mrs. Martha Benson, 111 Columbia street, Wilmar, Cal.

WAR DOGS GUESTS OF CREAMERY

Marines Explore Plant of Crescent Company and See How Milk Is Handled

It seems a far cry from the virile, red-blooded marines, who according to popular conception live on fresh meat and plenty of milk and milk products which call to mind infants and invalids, but the two were brought together yesterday when fifteen of the marines on recruiting duty in the city were guests of the Crescent Creamery Company for the day. Led by the officials of the company, the marines visited every department and went through the entire plant from the receiving department where the milk is brought in to the loading platform from where it is delivered to the home. And they enjoyed it, especially when they were turned loose in the Bakimo Pie room with no restrictions and all flavors to choose from.

The frosting room also came in for its share of attention and some of the marines tried their hands at turning out the finished product. No need to go back East for cold weather, was their opinion, when they could cool off in room three degrees below zero.

EDUCATION IN ICE USE PROPOSED

Distributing Companies to Encourage Year-Around Consumption

Los Angeles, in spite of the fact that it experiences no winter months, uses less ice than any of the large Eastern cities whose population in many cases is smaller, according to figures just compiled by ice companies here.

A Better Service Association, to acquaint Los Angeles citizens with the advantages of year-round use of ice, has been formed by The Ice Distributing Company, the Citizens Ice Company, the Union Ice Company, the Jefferson Ice Company, and the Home Ice Company. As its emblem the association has adopted a maltese cross colored yellow on a black square, the words "Certified Ice" being printed in the center of the cross. This emblem is intended to guarantee consumers that they are getting ice of the highest quality. As a first move, the association has employed a nationally-known chemical engineering concern to make frequent sanitary inspections of the various plants.

Realtor Who Bit Off Ear Free of Mayhem Charge

Became George Kindred, real estate operator, acted in self-defense when he bit off the ear of Edward Beck, also in the real estate business at Sunset Boulevard and Commonwealth avenue, a charge of mayhem was dismissed yesterday by Justice Forbes. Mr. Beck's ear, which had been preserved in a liquid, was placed in evidence and marked exhibit A. Testimony adduced by Dep. Dist. Atty. Burton indicated that the defendant and complaining witness had an argument in the latter's office and continued it to the street, where Kindred tripped and fell. The complaining witness, it was shown, fell on top of him. The defendant, who has only one arm, asserted that Beck had his feet on his chest and was choking when Beck's ear came into proximity of Kindred's teeth and he bit down. The court held that Kindred had acted in self-defense, exonerated him and dismissed the case.

ARMED HELD FOR TRIAL

Causing Wife's Name to be Signed by Another in $35,000 Deal

Henry H. Rommel, member of the Rommel Construction Company, was arrested yesterday by Los Angeles police officers following the arrest of his wife, Mrs. Rommel, who was charged with causing her name to be signed by another in a $35,000 deal. The two were arrested before Judge A. J. Clark. The wife was released on bail of $3500, while Mrs. Rommel remained on her own recognizance. She is believed to have been in the armed transactions. The Rommel Construction Company, to raise money on these properties, and that he had signed the name of his wife to the company. Then, when the trust deeds were issued, it is asserted, he had the stenographer sign Mrs. Rommel's name to these also. The transactions mentioned in the complaint are said to have taken place, Dec. 18, 1922. However, it is asserted that other trust deeds have been similarly signed by Mr. Rommel and Mrs. Alexander, these transactions extending over a period of seven or eight months, and involving a total of about $70,000. Of this total $35,000 is admitted to have been regularly used for company business. The disposition made of the remaining $35,000 is the matter in question. The various trust deeds in question are said to have been sworn to before Anne K. Roemer, notary public. The complaint against Henry H. Rommel was made by his father, John Rommel, and the arrest followed.

ASSERTED DRUG RING IS BROKEN

The arrest of five asserted members of a band of drug smugglers, said to have been the source of supply for "dope" peddlers in Los Angeles and other Pacific Coast cities, was reported yesterday in dispatches from California. The five suspects were taken into custody in a raid on an apartment-house in that town by Federal agents and customs officers. It was stated, a large quantity of morphine, opium, cocaine, pipes and needles was seized by the officers. Five other members of the asserted band are being sought and their arrest is expected momentarily. It is believed that the band has been acting as wholesalers for the drug peddlers and to have smuggled and supplied a good portion of the drug which found their way to Southern California. PAVING IS RECOMMENDED The paving of Normandie avenue between Eighty-third street and Manchester avenue has been recommended to the City Council by City Engineer Griffin and the Board of Public Works. This improvement is a part of the plan for paving Normandie from Florence avenue to Manchester.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to include a stamped envelope bearing your full name and full address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must include 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 100 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you, or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as far as possible, if they are of general interest. Dear Doctor: "I started to gain a year ago when I weighed 135 pounds. I lost 100 pounds in the last year. Now I weigh 135 pounds and am feeling very much the better. I tried to diet last summer, but I did not lose an ounce. For weeks I ate nothing but vegetables and fruit and drank nothing but water. For the next three weeks I added two slices of whole wheat bread to my daily diet. At the end of that time I found that I had lost one pound. I had plenty of exercise, too. But I could not lose weight. Will you please help me?—Mrs. K. L." It is through experiences such as Mrs. K. L. has had that many people believe diet has nothing to do with overweight. However, those who are wise on this subject know the weak point here, which is that even vegetables and fruit have calories concealed in their make-up, and you can get fat on fruit and vegetables just as surely as on pie and potatoes if you consume enough of them to exceed your needs. Mrs. K. L. you must have exceeded the speed limit. While vegetables and fruits have fewer calories, comparatively, than the other foods, if you eat too many of them they will register as fat. Did you read for our pamphlet on reducing? It explains the calories, and having a knowledge of calories (food units) and eating fewer of them than your system needs, is the only intelligent way to control your weight. "Dear Dr. Lulu: "I have reduced from 230 to 190 and expect to keep on until I get down to about 170, which is my correct weight. I surely am grateful to you. I wrote some time ago asking for one of your pamphlets on reducing for one of my friends, but I failed to send the 4 c. stamp. I am enclosing it. Your devoted follower, L. S." Every pound lost and fifty to go. My word, but you were some overweight, weren't you? I advise you to stay on your maintenance diet now and not lose any more for two or three weeks; then begin again on the fifty pounds. E. S.: Put yourself under the care of a stomach specialist. Cut out your cigarettes and your patent medicines. Until you can get to your stomach specialist I advise you to go on a crust made of rice and water. Cook the rice until it is of a smooth, pasty consistency and add a little butter to it. Take eight ounces every three hours for three or four days. That will be good for your extreme hyperacidity, according to Kallgren. Mr. A.: You should see a throat specialist for your trouble. You say you have had it two years. This is at least twenty-three months too long to go without receiving attention. Monday—Memorandum Needed by the Doctor, 1923, George Mathew Adams.

CHEF SUBMITS MANY RECIPES

(Continued from Seventh Page) Remove from the fire and beat while cooling, adding while beating one tablespoon of melted butter and one teaspoon of vanilla extract. MOON PLASTICINE A. C. W. asks that we supply her with a recipe for a poppy-seed cookie made in the old country, called moon plasticine. Lift one cup of sifted flour with one cup of sugar and rub into it one cup of butter. Rub with the hands until the mixture is like fine meal. Add half a cup of poppy seeds, two beaten eggs and enough white grape juice to hold the dough together. Roll out on well-floured board to a quarter of an inch in thickness, cut any desired shape, place on oiled pans and bake in a hot oven. COOKED MAYONNAISE R. C. A. asks for a recipe for a cooked mayonnaise that will keep for some time in the ice box. Mix the yolks of three well-beaten eggs with one tablespoon of olive oil, one teaspoon of sugar, two teaspoons of salt and two teaspoons of mustard. Mix well and beat with a wire whisk and one cup of light cream. Place in a double boiler and stir until thick and smooth, like custard. COSMOPOLITAN SALAD R. E. H. Paedana, wants direction for preparing a salad of chicken and sweetbreads for a luncheon for forty. Boil one pair of sweetbreads in cold water to cover for one hour. Drain, place in a saucepan, cover with cold water, add a bit of parsley, one tablespoon of lemon juice and a small bit of bay leaf. Bring to a boil and simmer gently for twenty minutes. Cool and cut in dice. Boil four cups of chestnuts in boiling water twenty minutes. Drain, remove the shells and cut in quarters. Place in a large mixing bowl, four cups of diced cooked chicken, mix with enough lemon French dressing to moisten, add the sweetbreads, chestnuts, two cups of diced cucumbers, the chopped whites of eight hard-boiled eggs and four hearts of lettuce torn in fine shreds. Mix with a Chantilly dressing and serve on lettuce-covered plates. Garnish with cheese balls rolled in parsley, ripe olives and the yolks of the hard-boiled eggs pressed through a sieve. This salad is to be used as the principal dish.

EXECUTION DATE SET FOR SLAYER

Isaac Wolfgram's death warrant was signed late yesterday afternoon by Judge McCormick of the Superior Court. It sets the date of his execution as June 23 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. An appeal has been taken by Wolfgram's attorneys to the Supreme Court. It is believed that the date of the execution will be postponed. Wolfgram was found guilty of murdering Pauline Oliver Dinsmore by a jury recently. The jury made no recommendation and some time later Judge McCormick imposed sentence of death. The killing of the officer followed Wolfgram's arrest for the theft of two bottles of milk. GIRL PLEADS GUILTY TO LARCENY CHARGE Arrested as she was about to leave the Fifth-street store with merchandise she had shoplifted from various counters, Miss Sadie Thompson, yesterday pleaded guilty to petty larceny in Judge Fredrick's court. She was released on $1000 bond and will appear for sentence today. Operatives of the Retail Dry Goods Merchants' Association apprehended Miss Thompson, who gave 1200 West Ninth street as her address.

MORE thrilling than a Jules Verne romance were the adventures of Warrant Officer H. B. Smith on the famous Sub Chaser "Seneca," which left him almost a physical wreck. He gives Tanlac full credit for complete restoration.

HUGH B. SMITH

The many deeds of daring and fifteen pounds under weight, all of which made me realize something must be done.

"I resigned from the Navy but soon found out my environment and duties made no improvement in my physical condition.

"Finally a friend persuaded me to try Tanlac and after taking six or eight bottles of Tanlac I had gained fifteen pounds, was back to my normal weight, and felt completely recovered. Tanlac was a life-saver to me, and I heartily endorse it."

Mr. Smith is branch manager for the Singer Sewing Machine Co. at 361 Flatbush Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., and resides at 435 Westervelt Ave., Staten Island.

DRIVER KIDNAPS CHILD, THEN BRINGS HER BACK

UTILITIES RAIL STAND GIVEN INDORSEMENT

The Hollywood-Vermont Association has forwarded a resolution to the City Council, in effect endorsing the stand of Public Utilities Commissioners Kennedy and Bogardus against the $4,000,000 improvement program of the Los Angeles Railway and Pacific Electric Railway companies, and the association urges, as the two commissioners do, that permits be given to competing independent motor bus lines.

The present City Council is expected to take no action toward granting any permits until after the May 1 primaries, at which election two propositions to grant the use of the streets to the McCadden-Hellman motor bus system will be voted on.

The little girl suffered only from a slight shock but was unable to give a description of the motorist or account for the several hours she presumably spent in his company.

It was at first feared by J. Ernest McClellan, who reported the accident, that the little girl had been killed and the body secreted.

IDENTIFY MAN AS BEACH BURGLAR

Robbery Victim Recognizes Kimono Bandit

Jewels Taken in Home-Hold-up Are Recovered

Intruder's Tactics Similar in All His "Jobs"

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
LONG BEACH, April 6.—Harry E. Edmondson, the bandit who lost his life in a gun fight with police and civilians in Pasadena last Tuesday was identified yesterday as the "Kimono Burglar," whose depredations stirred the fashionable residence district of Long Beach last December.

Identification of the slain bandit was made by Charles D. Church, 2611 East Fir street, when he went to the Crown City to inspect jewelry found on Edmondson's wife, in the hope of identifying some of it as that stolen from his house in the escape which gained for the "Kimono Burglar" his underground pseudonym. Several of the articles proved to belong to Mr. and Mrs. Church, and from photographs of Edmondson Mr. Church declared that without question he was the man who twice entered his home.

LOCKED IN CLOSET
The Church family was at dinner on the evening of December 4 when the marauder made his first visit. Finishing the meal, Mr. Church went upstairs to shave, and in his room was confronted by an armed man with a kimono burgling about his shoulders. The man thrust his weapon against Church, and took from him a valuable diamond ring, his watch, and other articles. Then he locked him in a clothes closet and went down stairs.

In the music room he backed Mr. Church against the grand piano, took from her several rings and a lavalliere, and then, commanding her to sit down on the davenport and be quiet, he made his exit, escaping through the alley. A cordon of police quickly surrounded the Church home a second time. The family had gone upstairs to retire. Mrs. Church and her little daughters were in a rear bedroom and Mr. Church in his own room at the other end of the hall. Hearing a noise in the hallway, Church investigated, and the same man confronted him, without the kimono but with the same menacing weapon.

BURGLAR IS COOL
"Well, here we are once more," remarked the visitor coolly. But Church was in no mood for a repetition of the previous episode. The man's brazen return for more loot infuriated him, so that he forgot the dictates of caution, and, disregarding the pointed revolver, planted his fist squarely on the intruder's chin. The burglar recoiled, recovered himself and snapped angrily: "Quit that! Keep away from me, or I'll shoot!"

"Shoot, you yellow pup!" was Church's answer, and he struck the man again, knocking him half-way down the stairs. On the landing, the burglar picked himself up, took the remainder of the steps in two leaps, and vanished out the door. A man living in an apartment over a garage in the rear of the Church home heard Mr. Church's shout, and took a shot at the fugitive as he crossed the lawn, but without effect.

It was believed that the burglar had entered the Church home while the family were at dinner, as on the previous occasion, and had hidden in a spare bedroom to wait until the family had retired. Edmondson's tactics last Tuesday were similar to those he employed on his first visit to the Church residence. He entered the residence of Robert S. Allen, in Pasadena, about noon, and held up the lone occupant, but met resistance and fled. He was shot while seeking to escape.

NEW DODGE WORKED BY BANDIT DUO
Autoists Limp Into Oil Station and Rob While Car Is Repaired

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
LONG BEACH, April 6.—A new ruse in gas station burglaries was disclosed here tonight, when two men, without display of arms or threat of force, got away with $115 from the cash register of a station at Fourteenth and American avenues, managed by R. E. Hathorn.

Mr. Hathorn was seated inside the small building when a machine drove up at the rear, and its driver called to him. Opening the rear door, he was met by a request for a quart of oil, and asked that the gas pipe line be repaired. Hathorn poured the oil and then took the gas line. Then he took the quart of oil, and the man drove away.

When Hathorn opened the cash register, he discovered that it had been rifled by the man's confederate, who had worked safely under cover of Hathorn's absorption in his task, and the thrum of the motor. He got 50 cents for the oil and the bandits got $115 for their trouble.

DAVISON HAS RESIGNED AS REVUE CHIEF

Mystery Made of Reason for His Retirement From Screen Enterprise

F. B. Davison, who has been invested with the title of "director general" of the American Industrial Revue and Motion-picture Industrial Exposition, since the plans for the affair, which is to be held here this summer, were first announced by W. J. Reynolds, secretary of the Motion-picture Producers' Association, has resigned.

When pressed for a statement as to the grounds upon which the resignation was predicated, Mr. Davison remained silent as to details.

Mr. Reynolds will have to give out any statement as I have nothing to say," Mr. Davison declared after admitting that he had resigned.

Dr. Anspacher Urges Aid for Nation's Drama

That the crying need of the drama is a subsidized theater, which will come with the further development of the little and community theater movement, is the contention of Dr. Louis Anspacher, one of the founders of the Drama League, who spoke last night at a dinner given in his honor by the local center of the league at the Mary Louise in the Brack Shops.

Dr. Anspacher's talk developed into a series of illustrations of what good drama subsidy has done for the other arts and sciences. He pointed out that the drama is now about the only mode of expression not given such aid, and he declared that it is only in this way that it can assume its rightful place.

A concrete example of Dr. Anspacher's theory is the "Theater Guild in New York," which is composed of some 600 members who pay $15 annually for the privilege of five plays, thus providing the money with which to carry on the work. It is an adaptation of this plan in

Girl Chauffeur Drives for Pair of Auto Bandits

Two hold-ups were reported to the police late last night, in one of which a girl was driving the bandit car.

M. Seyfer, 377 South Fremont avenue, reported that a machine swung to the curb beside him as he was walking on Fremont avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, and two men got out, confronting him with revolvers. They took $50, he said, and fled, with the girl at the wheel.

E. S. Irvine, 342 Potter Park reported that two bandits on foot held him up at Eighth and Flower streets and took $10 from him.

MAN SERIOUSLY HURT WHEN HIT BY TRAIN

A man named Anderson, 71 years of age, living at 7239 Ash street, was perhaps fatally injured last night when he was struck by a freight train on the Long Beach line near Florence avenue.

He was brought to the city on a train and taken to the Receiving Hospital, where Police Surgeon Norman Dorn said he had suffered a basal skull fracture, a broken shoulder and other injuries. Detective L. G. White was assigned to investigate the accident.
